

Sustainable Manitowoc Committee

14-1444

from Judi Northen:

I grew up in Elgin, Illinois which is located about 40 miles west of Chicago, then moved here in April 2013.

In the past I have been a member of both the Sierra Club and the Nature Conservancy. I've always wanted to be in a position to support environmental causes and organizations; during the past year I've become active with GLOBE through the Lakeshore Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, and now recently with the Sustainability Committee. I also hope to volunteer with Woodland Dunes this summer.

Christine Mittnacht

is a professional farmer, chef, butcher, and educator living in Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

Born and raised in New York and educated at the Culinary Institute of America (including a fellowship as butcher's apprentice for the culinary college), Christine moved to the upper Midwest in 2009 after a successful career cooking throughout the United States and France (and a brief inglorious appearance on the Food Network show Chopped!), to raise a family in a community that supported her goals.

Since then, she has made a name for herself as a sustainability advocate and passionate supporter of Farm-to-School and WIC/SNAP Farmer's Market programs nationwide, including such public appearances as:

2010 Sears Chef Challenge in Chicago, competing in the name of Sheboygan-based NOURISH Farm to Family Philanthropy

2013 National Farm-to-Cafeteria Conference in Burlington VT (national panel speaker)

Christine, her husband, and their three children live on and work at Taproot Farm & Kitchen LLC, a small sustainable farm and educational center south of Manitowoc. She writes for several websites and magazines, teaches culinary arts and healthy living classes, and works as an advocate and consultant throughout the Lakeshore region.
