Dear board members,

I hear there was discussion recently regarding the possibility of going fine free. As a special needs mom of 2 personally I feel this would be a great opportunity for our community. I know for myself I have never taken advantage of actually checking out library books so I wouldn't have to worry about forgetting and getting hit with fines. I have utilized library programming like reading to therapy dogs with my children which has been very beneficial.

I feel this would help encourage other families such as mine to check out materials without the fear of fines. I understand you can renew materials but that is one more thing I'd have to schedule and check track of.

Thanks for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Lisa Krueger
